support Thorndale appealing to buyers of all ages," Caracausa said.

Bill Bonenberger, President of W. B. Homes in Upper Gwynedd, prides himself on "Building the Custom Home of your Dreams." "We start with traditional old world appointed townhomes designed to meet all the requirements of today's discerning buyers, and then let them add their personal, custom touches. Allowing buyers to feel and be part of the ultimate "New Home Experience" results in a very pleasurable and exciting step in their lives.

This is a constant goal we strive to meet in all of our communities," Bonenberger said.

Thorndale will be comprised of 126 spacious carriage homes, pre-construction offerings starting in the low $300's boasting tree lined streets, extensive community landscaping, as well as an interior trail and sidewalk system. Thorndale's convenient location to public transportation and major roadways allows for easy access to nearby towns providing shopping, dining and entertainment such as Historic Skippack Village, Ambler and Doylestown.

Thorndale, surrounded by 11 acres of preserved open space, will feature three carriage homes per building, each with individual landscaping, and rear patios allowing residents at Thorndale to relax and enjoy the outdoor environment. Several unique floor plans offer something for everyone, whether it is an owner's suite on the first or second floor or a walk-out basement, the product offering at Thorndale is versatile.

Exterior facades enhanced by traditional stone, stucco, as well as beaded siding combined with colonial pediment above selected windows and doors and carriage style garage doors create that Old World look and charm. W.B. Homes trademark amenities and traditional millwork are offered on all models, as well as the leisure living area of a great room with gas fireplace, volume ceiling and a two car garage. Buyers may decide to add a sunroom, or another personal customization of their choice to make their dream home their own.

Outside the home, enjoy the community without the hassle of maintenance. A full service homeowner's association handles all routine and seasonal lawn, landscaping and grounds maintenance as well as snow removal from common areas allowing you to truly enjoy a carefree lifestyle doing the things that you want to do.

After settlement, buyers will continue to have the support of W. B. Homes to ensure the home is everything the buyer expected. W. B. Homes offers a full five-year Warranty and service program backed by a staff of dedicated professionals to ensure post-warranty satisfaction.
